NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the State Water Resources Control Board (State Water Board) and Department of Water Resources (DWR) will hold informational meetings at the times and locations noted above to discuss implementation of the Sustainable Groundwater Management Act (SGMA), and to answer questions from the public.

The technical sessions are intended for local public agencies and organizations to inform staff, governing boards, and leaders of local public agencies and organizations. The technical sessions will focus on: local agency requirements regarding Groundwater Sustainability Agency (GSA) formation, groundwater sustainability, and public involvement; the status of SGMA implementation within the meeting location's region; technical and financial assistance available from the state; and understanding the implications of state intervention in the absence of local action.

The public forums are intended for residential well owners, groundwater users, and other interested members of the public. The public forums will focus on: the public stakeholder role in SGMA implementation; local agency requirements regarding GSA formation and public involvement; drought management and groundwater sustainability; SGMA and water rights; and state involvement under SGMA (including technical and financial assistance and state intervention).

BACKGROUND

SGMA's intention is to ensure successful management of groundwater resources at the local level. Achieving local success will require that local agencies have the necessary tools and resources, and that public stakeholders remain engaged in long-term sustainable groundwater management activities.

SGMA requires local public agencies or a combination of local agencies overlying high- and medium-priority groundwater basins to form GSAs by June 30, 2017. Local public agencies with water supply, management, or land use authority are eligible to form GSAs. GSAs are required to develop groundwater sustainability plans by 2020 or 2022.

PROCEDURAL MATTERS

The meeting will be informal. There will be no sworn testimony or cross-examination of participants. A quorum of State Water Board members may be present, however no action will be taken. The workshops are an opportunity for interested persons to learn more about SGMA implementation.

Please RVSP for meetings here. No RSVP is required to attend, but it will aid meeting planning.
